

Solano County Supervisors and the Vallejo City Council are backing a $156 million project to redevelop the fairgrounds. It will require as much as $80 million in public funds.

A financial feasibility study was paid for with taxpayer dollars and never completed. Literally released in draft form, it was used to justify the spending of even more taxpayer dollars. The chart shows the contents of the 72-page “study”.

The County Board of Supervisors has spent almost $1.5 million on the Vision and Draft Financial Feasibility Study. The Board recently voted to spend $3 million more, all on no-bid contracts.
